FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Outlines how AOL Latin America with the assistance of Premier Group implemented and currently manages its multi-country operations with a single instance of OneWorld using a Shared Services Center strategy

CORAL GABLES (June 4, 2003)— Recently, Premier Group (Premier) was selected by the Quest Worldwide J.D. Edwards Users Group as one of a select group of J.D. Edwards Business Partners to present at the upcoming Global 2003 Conference in Denver on June 9-12.

In this joint session (RV7950) on Thursday, June 12th which is part of the Implementation Services track will demonstrate how AOL Latin America with the assistance of Premier Group implemented and currently manages its multi-country operations with a single instance of OneWorld using a Shared Services Center strategy. Mr. Fermin Rodriguez, President and CEO of Premier and Mr. Joao Felix the Regional Senior Manager, Information Systems for AOL Latin America, will address the challenges and “pitfalls” at various stages of the process design and software implementation process. Further, the case study highlights the path to attaining benefits of a region-wide single-instance of OneWorld including:

- Increasing control over its business operations in the region and deployment of personnel;
- Establishing a region-wide, highly responsive IT organization to support AOL’s rapid growth; and
- Minimizing total IT costs despite the significant challenges of multi-country operations with significant country-specific localizations.

"We are very proud to be selected for a third straight year to present at the Quest Global conference and having the opportunity to share with other J.D. Edwards customers and professionals the benefits realized by AOL Latin America implementing a shared services center with a single instance of OneWorld." noted Fermin Rodriguez.
